OAK CITY BRIEFS.

Gov. Vance telegraphs Gen. Cox he will be here Friday evening, and begin the campaign. Tilden and Vance Club will meet that night.

The torrid heat since June 26 reached on yesterday its highest point—93—in Lewis & Co.'s hardware store, which is one of the coolest places in the city.

At this hour, 11:30 p. m., our colored henchman Tom Burton has brought down a young screech owl he captured upstairs in the composing room. The thing looks so near kin to the devil, no wonder it roosted in a printing office.

We learn at the telegraph office that the negroes and whites are fighting in the dark across the river at Hamburg, S. C. Shots were fired into Augusta making it dangerous to walk on the streets. Cannon were being fired from the Augusta side.

Dr. Blackhall of the Yarbrough has made it pleasant for his guests and passers-by in attaching a pipe from the tank on top of the house and then to the pipe a hose by which he has the entire front well sprinkled three or four times a day. One in getting into the sprinkled district feels he has struck an ice-berg.

The Governor has Returned.

Ahoy there! Governor Brogden was notified at the Centennial. The Philadelphia Press mentioned his arrival, and he was placed the second Governor from the head in a procession of two hundred thousand. There was a transparency to his carriage and three lines on both sides of the transparency. The first line was, "Welcome." The second line was, "Governor Brogden," and the bottom line was "North Carolina." It was an open carriage and the fellow that held the transparency sat on the front seat with the driver. Two other gentlemen were in the same carriage with the Governor, and the crowd cried, "Take off your hat! Governor Brogden!" and then, "Hurrah for Governor Brogden!" "Hurrah for North Carolina!" The Governor rode for three hours bareheaded. The ladies waved their handkerchiefs from open windows and he could tell they recognized him from the way they bowed to him whenever he bowed to them. Once when the carriage stopped the crowd rushed up and shook his hand saying, "How are you Governor Brogden?" and then, "How's the peanut crap in North Carolina?" Governor Hawley invited him to the speaker's stand, but he cared not to crowd Dom Pedro and Hayes, and declined to go up, and then Hawley proposed three cheers for Brogden and North Carolina, and they were given with a will. The Governor is now in bed, fanning; sick and broken down from the trip.

Returned From Salem.

A friend who was present in Salem on the Fourth of July describes the crowd as very large and thinks the celebration would have reflected credit on a place of fifty thousand inhabitants. They had a centennial bell just above the speaker's stand which was made of flowers and even had the crack in it in imitation of the Centennial bell at Philadelphia. Mr. R. T. Gray of this city was the orator of the day and did his part admirably, making a very fine address and giving an interesting and well prepared history of Winston and Salem. The music from the Salem band was the finest in the State and the sacred music at Moravian Church was perfectly splendid. In addition to the organ, the largest in North Carolina, they had a complete orchestra, composed of about one dozen musicians, with violin, violoncello, horns, &c., in the choir.

The City Case.

Judge Watts has not yet decided in the city government case, will probably give his decision on Monday. It is the plan of the opposition counsel to have the Judge go back on what they call his street opinion. They may succeed in making the Judge take back his words, but we would as soon think of butting the famous little bull off the bridge.

The Last of the Sweeney Trial—A Long Day of Argument—Judge Watts' Charge—Jury Out Ten Minutes—Sweeney Not Guilty.

Both State and defense were on their metal yesterday. From nine in the morning until nearly nine at night the court room was the theatre of a strong legal fight. Maj. Jno. W. Graham led off for the State, in Graham's own style, calm and shrewd reasoning, and entrenched behind the authorities of the law. He was followed by Col. T. C. Fuller for the defense in nearly a four hour effort, and one generally admitted the mightiest of his life. He bore down men's minds rather like some giant force than as a mere man. Levi Scott followed for the State in clear, impassioned and incisive style, full of good argument and bristling with strong points. Judge Fowle closed for the defense. He held quiet the large crowd for two hours and his peroration tingled the blood and pulled the heart to the throat. He referred to the prisoner that through all the storms that had beat upon him, when friends deserted him, and men turned against him, his noble wife, the daughter of one of North Carolina's most distinguished sons, had clung to him still, and at that moment her prayers were on their way to Heaven that God would save his life. Col. George V. Strong was expected to close for the State but owing to his feeble health he was compelled to forego, and Maj. A. M. Lewis filled his place. Major Lewis is remarkable as a jury lawyer, and never did his peculiar talent in this direction show to better advantage. He pleaded for the State with all the boldness and earnestness and ingenuity of his nature. About eight o'clock at night Judge Watts charged the jury. He told them if they believed the conduct of Moore was such as to put Sweeney in constant dread of his life or that he made threats he would kill Sweeney and Sweeney had reason to believe he would do so, then the prisoner was justifiable in law, and it made no difference what part of the house he fired from, for his house was his castle, and a man in his castle was already driven to the wall. When the jury retired Mr. Sweeney moved about the bar and one time looked at his watch. In about ten minutes the jury were heard at the door coming in and prisoner and counsel all resumed their seats. As the jury came in Mr. Sweeney shook hands with a gentleman who had taken a seat behind him. He sat fidgeting his stick as the judge told the clerk to call over the jury. When all had been called the Judge asked, "Gentlemen, of the jury, have you agreed or not agreed?" "We have agreed." Here the prisoner looked at the Judge. "Who shall speak for you?" "Mr. John R. Williams." "Is the prisoner at the bar guilty or not guilty?" "Not guilty." And the words had hardly fallen, when the people applauded and congratulations were offered Mr. Sweeney. So ended the trial.

No Rain in the Centre.

All our hopes and anticipations of pretty flowers and good vegetables are gone. The gardens are burnt up. The potatoes are rotting, the shoot on the corn won't fill, it is so parched, and the cucumber and melon vines and cabbages are nearly destroyed. All the annual flowers and dahlias are past hope and even a good rain will hardly save them. We learn that in the centre belt of counties they have planted corn in the tobacco hills and it has died, and the oats have been turned under as not worth cutting, and in one field of a hundred acres not a grain of corn is to be seen. In striking contrast is the country up west. They have had too much rain. The town of Madison was submerged by a freshet and in many sections the crops have been washed away.

The Mandamus Case.

The argument of Col. Ed. Graham Haywood on Friday evening last, in the city case, was in the highest degree incendiary and calculated to provoke a war of races in his native city. After denouncing Mayor Manly and the Board of Aldermen in unmeasured terms as "usurpers," he went on to say that their action "was enough to raise the devil in all our hearts," and there was a murmur of assent from the two hundred able adherents at his back. He further said if the writ of mandamus was delayed "even for an hour" there might be a serious trouble; and again the negroes audibly agreed. The effect of the argument upon the negroes was bad; the manner of its delivering was annoying and offensive to every man connected with the city government, as indeed to every order-loving Democrat in Raleigh.

Post Office Wanted.

Oak Grove needs a post-office badly. Mr. Mitchell informs us a petition to this effect was sent to the Hon. Joe Davis in Washington some time last March. An office is desired at Roger's Store and at Hutchinson's. Roger's Store was an old post-office before the war. There is not an office in all that section nearer than eight miles. They wish a weekly mail from here to Hutchinson's and thence to Roger's and on to New Light to connect with the mail to Oxford. As it is the now the route from Forestville touches no office except at New Light, while if started from here it would touch two new offices and only increase the distance a few very miles. Our Congressmen will please have an eye to Oak Grove.

The Crops and Country.

Mr. P. F. Pescud has just returned from a supervising tour through Eastern Carolina and also visited Petersburg and Norfolk, and Danville, Virginia. They are planting plenty of grain, and cotton was never looking better. A significant and encouraging fact is that Mr. Pescud saw more corn than he saw cotton. He thinks Danville the most prosperous place in the south, with the exception of Atlanta, having new and elegant buildings, and the trade of the place seemed in a bustle. They sold fifteen million pounds of tobacco in that place last year.

Movements of Cotton in Raleigh.

Receipts of cotton for the week ending July 8th, 76, 72 bales; same week last year 115 bales; decrease in receipts for the week this year, 43 bales. Whole receipts since 1st September, 1875 to date, 38,545 bales; same time last year, 34,447 bales; increase in receipts this year to date, 4,098 bales. Our market has been very dull during the past week and prices have declined and market closes at 10 to 10 1/2 cents, with little demand. The prospect of the growing crop continues unusually good and without some disaster the yield in this section must be larger.

Masonic.

There will be a meeting of William G. Hill Lodge, on Monday night the 11th instant, at 8:30 o'clock. Any one having for rent a dwelling house with about four rooms would do well to call at this office.

An Infant Killed in a Foundling House.

An instant capias was issued yesterday evening for the arrest of Mary Jones, a young white woman living at Jeff. Fisher's place, near here, and charged with killing with laudanum her six months old child, Katie Jones, and also for the arrest of J. B. Mansfield, brother-in-law to Mary Jones, and Charity Clapps and Marina Clapps accessories to the killing. Charity and Marina Clapps are keepers of a sort of foundling depository in the city, where Mary deposited the child and where it is charged the child was killed. The half ounce of laudanum was given on the first of July and the child lingered and died on the 2nd. The following witnesses have been summoned: Mrs. Gaston Warren, Mrs. Ramy Jones, Gabriel Clapps, Dr. P. E. Hines, Mrs. J. B. Mansfield, John Bell and E. Collins.

Supreme Court.

Court opened at 9 o'clock a. m., all the Justices present. Motion was made to docket the case of Martin vs. Cheshire from Cherokee. Dismissed last term. Appeals were then called as follows: Henry T. Farmer vs. W. H. Willard, from Buncombe. Argued on motion to dismiss the judgment of this court entered at last term. Smith and Strong for plaintiff and Merrimon, Fuller and Ashe, for defendant. John McCampbell vs. Charles McCampbell, from Haywood. Argued; G. S. Ferguson for plaintiff and J. H. Merrimon for defendant. State vs. Jasper A. Dills, from Jackson. Argued, Attorney-General Hargrave for State and G. S. Ferguson for defendant. Court adjourned to 9 a. m., Monday.

A Lamp Burns.

Late on Wednesday night, a colored woman in the employ of Mr. Oliver, Tryon street, near Fifth was about retiring, when a kerosene lamp which was in the room, exploded without any apparent cause. The woman was burned, but not badly, and beyond this, no damage was done. The fire was speedily extinguished. A can of kerosene is hardly more dangerous than a can of kerosene. Charlotte Observer June 28, 1876.

This Colored Woman was not a Subscriber to either the Daily or Weekly News, or she would most certainly have learned by this time that Pratt's Astral Oil was absolutely safe under all circumstances, that it burns in any lamp and that the wholesale agents for North Carolina are Messrs. Julius Lewis & Co., Hardware merchants, Raleigh, N. C.

For South Carolina.

Mr. P. F. Pescud, Jr., was summoned from this city and left this morning for South Carolina to adjust a loss recently sustained by the Georgia Home Insurance Company at Manning.

Gentlemen going to the Centennial will find it very convenient to visit the Fairbanks' headquarters while in Philadelphia. These gentlemen, Fairbanks & Co., have fitted up most elegant rooms, where their friends can always find plenty of desk room, writing paper, postoffice facilities and lots of welcome. Before going call on their agents, Julius Lewis & Co., and get a letter of introduction, which they will be most happy to furnish to all.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Fourth in Oxford.

The 4th of July was celebrated today in Oxford, with a degree of interest unprecedented before or since the war. The concourse of people was immense composed of white and colored though the white element largely preponderated. The Raleigh colored band was engaged for the occasion and as it moved along the streets we half imagined that John Robinson's circus was in town as the throng that followed after it reminded us of the last visit of that Prince of Showmen as his music wagon perambulated our streets. The exercises of the day took place at the Orphan Asylum building. At about 11 o'clock the very ample chapel of the Asylum was filled by a large and intelligent audience from all parts of this county and several persons were present from adjoining counties and also from Virginia. The Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence was read by Col. J. S. Amis, and the National Declaration by W. H. P. Jenkins. Both Declarations were appropriately read. The event of the day however was the address of T. B. Kingsbury, Esq., the chosen orator of the occasion. Mr. K. sketched the history of Granville county and many of its distinguished citizens from the day of its first settlement. He spoke for two hours and forty-five minutes though he did not venture to repeat all his manuscript which would have consumed four hours in its delivery. The address added greatly to the reputation of its author as a gentleman of ability and skill in the handling of historical data. It was a production showing great research in gathering up important facts relative to a past age, and presenting them in terse and felicitous English. To characterize the address as an able one does not do it full justice. It was so well conceived, so judiciously arranged, and so full of instruction that it was the theme of much commendation, particularly among the more intelligent portion of the immense audience. Occasionally too, it was interspersed with passages of wit and eloquence that drew forth hearty and spontaneous applause. I had intended saying a great deal more relative to the celebration of the Centennial Fourth at this place, but my communication I fear would be too long to admit of publication. VERITAS.

LATEST TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

THE DAILY NEWS IS THE ONLY PAPER IN RALEIGH THAT TAKES THE TELEGRAPHIC REPORTS, AND IS THE ONLY ONE THAT FURNISHES THE LATEST NEWS AND MARKET REPORTS.

The Eagle landed at St. Domingo, New York July 9.—The steamer Tyle arrived at St. Domingo the latter part of June from Cape Haytien. At the latter place Ex-Minister of war Villanueva, formerly of Dominica, under Gonzales, took passage under a properly vided passport and while at St. Domingo a party of soldiers under orders of the military Governor of St. Domingo, planted cannon on the wharf within sixty feet of the steamer and then went on board notwithstanding the United States Consul placed the American flag across the gangway and in the name of the United States protested against the outrage, and forbore took Villanueva away. He was probably shot. Consul Jones sent the details of the outrage to Secretary Fish which probably reached Fish to-day, Saturday.

Gen. Crook Camped Near the Center Battle Ground.

OMAHA, July 8.—Captain Nickerson of Gen. Crook's staff is here. He left Crook on Tongue River, at the base of Big Horn Mountains, 186 miles from Fort Fetterman, and 292 miles from the railroad, awaiting supplies and reinforcements, consisting of five companies which left Fort Fetterman July 4th, and expected to reach Crook about the 12th of July. He will be joined Monday by 150 Scouts, making his force about 1,400. Capt. Nickerson does not apprehend any danger to the expedition. Gen'l Crook's location is about 150 miles from the scene.

Sheridan to Sherman.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—General Sheridan telegraphs Sherman: "Your dispatch is received. I think it premature to think of asking for volunteer cavalry with the attendant expenses. If the six companies of the 22nd Infantry are given Terry will have about 2,000 men. Cook in a few days will have 1,500 men, and I send him Merritt's eight companies of the 5th cavalry, 400 strong. We are all right. Give us a little time." Sheridan don't think the Indians are more than three thousand strong.

Concentrating Against the Indians.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—It is stated that six companies of infantry at Detroit and on the Lakes have been ordered to the front immediately. Fifty cavalry are ordered to concentrate at Red Cloud and Spotted-Tail Agencies. Dispatches from the Frontier and Plains show desperate feeling of indignation against the Indians. A Turkish Victory—Gen. Olympic Entrenches. PARIS, July 8.—Journal des Debats published a telegram from near Belgrade that the Serbian army of Drina was completely beaten by 12,000 Turks at Belgrina Ranca. The Serbian General Olympia entrenched himself having the river in the rear of the Turks and took two entrenchments and six guns. Gen. Pope in the Saddle. LEAVENWORTH, July 8.—General Pope has ordered Gen. Miles with six companies of the 5th Infantry to report at once at the scene of the Sioux war. They are now stationed at Fort Gibson, Fort Hayes and Fort Riley, one company each, and 3 at Fort Leavenworth. The Buchs Man in Jail. LONG BRANCH, July 8.—Helmhold has been committed to jail. His violent actions made his arrest necessary. He will be taken to Philadelphia. Big Mechanic's Parade. PHILADELPHIA, July 8.—The United American Mechanics' parade today. Eight thousand in line. Sparks From Yesterday's Wires. The Southern military breakfasted at Faneuil Hall in Boston and were addressed by Gov. Rice and others. The impeachment trial will not last over one hundred days. Sherman and Cameron had a long interview in Washington yesterday. Servian Currency. BERLIN, July 8.—The Servians have issued forced paper currency. One of our most estimable citizens may be thankful for the introduction of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, for its timely use has saved his life.

JAMES MADISON LEACH,

OF DAVIDSON.

THE war in Europe is now fairly under way. The Turks have the advantage, so far.

THE wickedness of Grant's administration bore bloody fruit in the South. But the tragic tale from the Indian frontier is the most heart-rending of all.

SOME say Grant's absence from the Centennial of last Monday was an insult to the American people. We think his presence there would have been an in-ult.

THE address of Mr. Battle is full of interesting and entertaining reading. It is the first elaborate sketch of Raleigh's history, and is a valuable contribution to the historical literature of the State.

GENERAL CUSTER's body was found naked on the field. This emphasizes the naked truth that the frightful war waged by the Sioux, is the direct result of the robberies committed by the Indian Bureau.

The Washington Republican, Administration organ, in making out an estimate of how the States will

THE PEOPLE AND REFORM.

Gov. Vance began his great speech at Concord the other day by remembering the people that the Government and corruption were in their hands.

As plain as this truth is, it is necessary that the voting population be often reminded of it.

We are prone to lose sight of the most potent facts if they are not frequently enforced upon our attention.

Our declaration of rights, therefore,

which asserts that "a frequent reference to fundamental principles is absolutely necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty."

We heard once of a preacher who too for his text: "Thou shalt not steal." The congregation was shocked. The idea of preaching upon that subject to a fashionable assemblage was considered absurd. But the man of God demonstrated in the course of his remarks that we sometimes forget the clearest precepts, and truths that shine as the stars, if we do not now and then have our attention directed to them, in some especial manner.

The people seem to have forgotten that the remedy for the evils that aflict this country can be removed or remedied by them; that they have the power and the right to do it; and that it is their bounden duty to themselves, their children, and the whole commonwealth, to exercise that God-given right, and use for the restoration of good government the mighty power with which they are invested.

They can reform the Government,

if they will. Under no circumstances is the truth of the old saying, "Where there's a will there's a way" more plainly set forth than in this connection. The people can rectify matters if they will.

The first symptom of a decay of the spirit of liberty and manhood among freemen, is the disposition to regard the office-holder as a master instead of a servant. True Democratic doctrine makes the official the servant, not the master, of the people. This principle is the strongest ground-sill

in that firm bed of popular-sovereignty upon which the fabric of the American Republic rests.

The Republican party has departed from this principle. The whole government at Washington is run upon the idea that the office-holder is the master, and the people the servants.

Grant acts upon that false notion, and all his subordinates, from the cabinet officials down to the fellows whom Gov. Vance aptly terms "red-legged grasshoppers," and the Winston Sentinel, "bung-starters." These men use their places to make money.

Alas! they do it. They entirely forget that they are hired servants of the citizen—and nothing more.

The great objective point in this campaign is to arouse the people to a true conception of their sovereignty; of the majestic attributes with which the Constitution of the United States has clothed them; of their rights, their power, and their duty; and thus lead them up to reform in the most important particular, that of placing in power men who recognize in all its potency the grand fundamental principle, that the office-holder is the servant and not the master of the people.

When Gov. Tilden was inaugurated, he urged upon the people to attend again to public affairs. He said that the war had drawn away the attention of the people from the questions of administration, which involve every interest and duty of good government; that the time is now ripe to join altogether to build anew

the solid foundations of American self-government; and that "the people must once more put their minds to questions that concern the ordinary conduct of government if they would have our country to start afresh

in a career of prosperity and renew."

These golden words supplemented

POLITICAL NOTES.

Winston Sentinel: The demonstration of the 4th ought to stick in the throat of bloody shirt blather skiters.

The issue is now made up. It is Tilden, reform and honest government versus Hayes, hard times, Grantism and Jobbery.

The Springfield Republican seems to think by the way Grant is carrying on that he means Tilden, and that he is certainly not advancing the interest of Hayes or the Republican party.

A desperate effort is being made by the Republicans to revive the bloody shirt and get it in position to wave during the campaign. It is to be used to divert attention from the rascalties and stealings as Washington.

Burke Blade: Col. Tate one of the delegates to the St. Louis Convention, from this Congressional district, has returned. He says all the signs are hopeful for Tilden's election. He tells us that the return of the delegations was an ovation from St. Louis to Washington.

Ratification meetings, speeches and firing of cannon was going on at every point on the route.

Wilmington Star: The 4th passed off very quietly in Wilmington. Business was entirely suspended, but there was no demonstration, all these taking place elsewhere in the vicinity. All the public buildings, the Imperial consulate, the various vice-consulates and the shipping in port displayed their bunting in honor of the occasion.

THE WEEKLY NEWS is the cheapest paper published in North Carolina. It is only one dollar per year, postage paid, contains 32 columns of plain printed news from every section of the country, and important advertisements. Always Cash.

Vance and the Poor Boy of Currituck County.

During the war, a mere youth from the above county enlisted, as a volunteer in the army. After remaining a short time, he became disaffected, and desired to procure an honorable discharge.

Being very poor, and uneducated, as well as without the advantage of view of wealthy or influential friends, he was at a loss how to proceed in this matter. When far away from his friends he sets down and writes to Z. B. Vance who was then Governor of North Carolina.

The boy was ignorant and could scarcely write an intelligible letter, notwithstanding, this fact, Governor Vance amid all the pressing duties of his office at that time, answered this letter, not in a formal manner, but as if the young man had been a business man of his, and gave him such advice as induced the young soldier to address to him a second letter which also was received and answered with friendly sentiments peculiar to the first.

We have been unable to ascertain whether or not the discharge was obtained, but every one must admire and applaud those generous impulses which induced Governor Vance to answer a letter of such a character when it was not his duty. And when accepting the nomination from the people of the National Hotel, he remarked that while Governor North Carolina, no one ever came to the Executive Mansion with a story to relate who did not have an opportunity to tell it, and whoever went away without having his grievances redressed as far as it was in his power to redress them.

A friend of ours who related the above incident to us remarked that he knew that Vance was telling the truth, for from his personal knowledge of him he was incapable of telling a lie.

Some men are called for their courage some for their great learning, but no character is fully adorned unless it possesses sympathy for those in distress and it is the possession of this element, more than any other which has given to Z. B. Vance such a warm place in the heart of the people of his native State. We confidently believe will elect him next November.

Grant's Failure to Attend the Fourth of July Celebration at the Centennial Exposition.

The Philadelphia Times says: "The absence of President Grant from the grand celebration of the nation that has so signally honored him displayed indecent contempt for the ever-memorable occasion that has drawn its visitors from every people of the earth, and an utter forgetfulness of the dignity and prerogatives of the presidential office. Had it been a junket by the seaside, or a display of jockey and prize fighting, the ruler of forty millions or free citizens would have given willing ear to the invitation to attend; but when the sublime grandeur of the achievements of a century of Christian civilization are to be commemorated, and the people of every section and faith come by hundreds of thousands to pay homage to the victories of peace and progress, the chief of the nation is absent, although his official home is less than five hours distant from Independence Hall. Of all the men ever thought of for the chair of Washington, none but a Grant could be so indifferent to one of his most important duties and grandest opportunities. The million of people who looked in vain, not for Grant, but for the President of the United States, yesterday, will take courage to reflect that the Fourth of March is rapidly crowding upon us."

Tilden in Alabama.

The following letter from one of the ablest men in Alabama has been handed to us for publication as a type of Southern sentiment at this time:

MOBILE, Ala., June 29, 1896.
Hon. Samuel J. Tilden, Albany, N. Y.

DEAR SIR: Permit me to congratulate you on your nomination to the highest office in the gift of the American people. I sincerely hope that you will be successful in the ensuing contest, not only that you may reap the reward so richly merited as the earnest and successful leader of reform, but that under your wise and eminent counsel, sectional differences may be harmonized on the basis of truth and justice; the industrial interests, now prostrate and paralyzed, be infused with new life and vigor, and peace and prosperity restored to our distracted and impoverished country.

Grants Indian Policy.

The "Indian policy" of President Grant's Administration has borne its bitter but legitimate fruits. The country will be thrilled with grief and indignation to-day by the terrible news of a great disaster to our arms, accompanied by the death in battle with these wretched enemies of civilization and of humanity, of one of the bravest and most distinguished generals of our army. But yesterday the Indian in the White House, General Custer, with all the nearest and dearest of his name, has fallen foremost fighting in a conflict in which victory could bring but little renown, and defeat disgrace the banner of the honor of the nation to be left in the keeping of the men who have made this shocking catastrophe possible?

German Liberals for the Ticket.

The German Liberals are as a unit for Tilden. Hundreds of German Republicans here are rejoicing that an opportunity is at last offered them to vote for a reform ticket, to cast their influence for and work for the election of a reform candidate. The Democratic platform also meets with hearty approval among Independent Germans. The Germans of St. Clements are largely, almost unanimously, for Tilden, and in November he will get such a vote in this county as was never before given to any presidential candidate, not even that given to Grant the first time he was elected.

The 4th at Moore's Creek.

We learn from parties who were present that the celebration of the 4th at Moore's Creek was a grand affair. A crowd, estimated at about three hundred, assembled at the monument sacred to the memory of the heroes of 1776, who fought and bled near the spot, when Dr. S. S. Satchell made a short introductory address, which was followed by prayer by the Rev. Mr. Black, of Pender. Mr. Bruce Williams next addressed the crowd in a masterly effort of about thirty minutes, and was followed by Hon. Edward Cantwell in an address which consumed about an hour and a half in its delivery. Both addresses are alluded to in the highest terms and to have been replete with historical facts.

Tilden's Church.

Within the last month it has been asked over and over again to what church Mr. Tilden belonged. We have the satisfaction this morning of giving from the New York Sun the desired information for the benefit of those curious in such matters:

"We yesterday received several letters asking what is Governor Tilden's religion, and we tell our correspondents and the rest of mankind that it is the Christian Religion; that he is of the Presbyterian denomination, and that he has given proof of the sincerity of his faith by enforcing the performance of his official duties that divine commandment Thou shalt not steal."

The deadlock on the Post-Office appropriation bill is over.

The Senate has receded from its position to the extent of $2,200,000; the House to the extent of some $800,000. Considering that it has been claimed that any reduction in expenses would impair the efficiency of the service, and that the Senate cannot consent to any reduction, this abandonment of its position by the Senate is a confession that the department has been spending and has asked some two millions more than it needed. In other words, it is a confession that the House was mainly right, and the Senate mainly wrong.—New York World.

Modern Women.

It is a sad commentary upon our boasted civilization that the women of our times have degenerated in health and physique until they are really a race of invalids—pale, nervous, feeble, and back-ache, with only her and there a few noble exceptions in the persons of the robust, buxom ladies characteristic of the sex in days gone by. By a very large experience, covering a period of years, and embracing the treatment of many thousands of cases of those ailments peculiar to Women, Dr. Pierce, of the World's Dispensary, Buffalo, N. Y., has perfected, by the combination of certain vegetable extracts, a natural specific, which he does not extol as cure-all, but one which admirably fulfills a singleness of purpose, being a most positive and reliable remedy for those weaknesses and complaints that afflict the women of the present day. This natural specific is called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The following are among those diseases in which this wonderful medicine has worked cures as if by magic and with certainty: Nervous debility, induced by any medicines; Weak back, nervous and general debility, falling and other displacements of internal organs resulting from debility and lack of strength in natural supports; Internal fever, congestion, inflammation, ulceration and many other chronic diseases incident to women, not proper to mention here, in which as well as in the cases that have been enumerated, the Favorite Prescription effects cures—the marvel of the world. It will not do harm in any state or condition of the system, and by adopting its use the invalid lady may avoid that severest of ordeals—the consulting of the family physician. Favorite Prescription is sold by dealers in medicines generally.
